CAMPAIGN OVERVIEW

A complete strategy-to-send email marketing plan for young adventure travelers aged 22–35. This campaign covers audience segmentation, automation flows, email copywriting, and design concepts.

PART 1: DEVELOP YOUR STRATEGY

1.1 Email Marketing Objectives

The main goal of this campaign is to create excitement around the upcoming 'Off the Beaten Path' package and drive real actions — not just opens. Here is what we want subscribers to do after reading each email:

Action Goal	Description
Visit the Website	Click through to the dedicated landing page for the package
Explore Destinations	Browse the specific adventure destinations featured in the campaign
Sign Up Early	Register for early access or pre-booking before the official launch
Share with Friends	Forward the email or share on social media for extra reach
Download a Guide	Download a free 'Adventure Starter Guide' PDF as a lead magnet

1.2 Audience Segmentation

The target audience is young professionals aged 22–35. But within that group, there are very different types of travelers. Here is how we break them down:

Segment	Who They Are + What to Send
First-Time Adventurers	New to adventure travel. Send beginner-friendly content, safety tips, and easy destination choices.
Experienced Explorers	Already traveled to multiple countries. Send off-grid destinations, expert packing tips, and unique experiences.
Budget Travelers	Travel-obsessed but cost-conscious. Send early-bird discounts, group deals, and affordable packages.
Luxury Adventurers	Want comfort with a hint of adventure. Send premium experiences, boutique stays in remote areas.
Solo Travelers	Travel alone and love independence. Send solo-friendly itineraries and safety-focused content.

1.3 Content Calendar — 3-Email Series

We will send 3 emails over 3 weeks leading up to the launch day. Each email has a clear purpose and builds on the last one.

Email	Focus & Timing
Email 1 (Week 1)	Introduce the concept — 'What does Off the Beaten Path even mean?' Build curiosity. Share a short story of a traveler who chose the road less traveled.
Email 2 (Week 2)	Showcase 3 specific destinations from the package (e.g., Faroe Islands, Kyrgyzstan, Ethiopia). Use visuals and short descriptions to build desire.
Email 3 (Week 3 / Launch Week)	Create urgency — offer a 15% early-bird discount for the first 48 hours. Include a countdown and strong CTA to book now.

PART 2: EMBRACE AUTOMATION

2.1 Welcome Email for New Subscribers

Every new subscriber gets this email automatically within 5 minutes of signing up. It sets the tone for the brand and makes the subscriber feel seen.

Subject Line: Welcome Aboard, [First Name]! Your Adventure Starts Here 🌍

Preheader: We're so glad you found us. Here's a little gift to get you started...

— EMAIL BODY —

Hi [First Name],

You just made one of the best decisions of the year — joining the DreamVacations community.

We are not your average travel agency. We believe the best trips are the ones most people never take — the ones that push boundaries, skip the tourist traps, and lead you somewhere real.

As a welcome gift, here's what you get for free:

- Our FREE 'Adventure Starter Guide' — 10 pages of tips for first-time adventure travelers
- Early access to our upcoming 'Off the Beaten Path' package before it goes public
- Weekly travel inspiration delivered straight to your inbox

See you at the next destination,

— The DreamVacations Team

2.2 Automated Trigger Email

Not all automation has to be time-based. Here is a behavior-triggered email that fires when a visitor takes a specific action on the website:

Trigger: A visitor browses the Adventure Travel Packages page for more than 60 seconds but does NOT click 'Book Now'.

Send Delay: 30 minutes after leaving the page without booking

Email Goal: Re-engage the visitor, address possible hesitation, and nudge them back to book

Subject: Still thinking about it? Here's what other travelers said...

This triggered email would include: a short testimonial from a past adventure traveler, a brief FAQ section answering common hesitations (safety, cost, difficulty level), and a direct link back to the package page with a 'Your spot is still available' message.

PART 3: CRAFT COMPELLING CONTENT

3.1 Subject Lines for the 3-Email Series

Email	Subject Line
-------	--------------

Email 1	What if your next trip didn't exist on Google Maps? 🗺️
Email 2	3 places most people will never go (but you can) 🧑🏿
Email 3	48 Hours Only: 15% Off the Adventure of a Lifetime ⌚

Why these work: Email 1 creates curiosity with a rhetorical question. Email 2 uses exclusivity to trigger FOMO. Email 3 uses urgency and a clear benefit. All three are short, direct, and emoji-enhanced to stand out in a crowded inbox.

3.2 Email 1 — Full Body Copy

This is the first email in the series. The goal is to spark curiosity, tell a mini story, and get the reader to click through to the website.

Subject Line: What if your next trip didn't exist on Google Maps? 🗺️

Preheader: We're about to show you a side of travel that most people never see...

— EMAIL BODY —

Hi [First Name],

Picture this: You're standing at the edge of a valley that doesn't have a Wikipedia page. There are no tourist shops nearby. No one is taking the same selfie you are. Just you, the wind, and a landscape so raw it feels like the world saved it just for you.

That's not a fantasy. That's what we call 'Off the Beaten Path' travel — and it's what DreamVacations is built for.

Most travel packages take you to the same 10 cities everyone else visits. You stay in the same hotel chains, eat at restaurants your friend already reviewed on Yelp, and come home with photos that look like everyone else's.

We do something different.

Our upcoming 'Off the Beaten Path' package is designed for travelers who are done with ordinary. People who want real culture, real adventure, and real stories to tell — not just a check on a bucket list.

In the next few weeks, we'll take you behind the scenes of this package — the destinations, the experiences, and yes, a special offer for our subscribers only.

But first — are you curious? Let's start with a look at what this kind of travel actually feels like.

→ EXPLORE THE CONCEPT → <https://dreamvacationtrip.com/off-beaten-path>

CTA Breakdown:

- Primary CTA button text: 'Explore the Concept →'

- CTA destination: Landing page dedicated to the Off the Beaten Path package
- Tone: Curious, inspiring — not pushy or salesy
- Personalization: First name in greeting, informal tone to build connection

PART 4: DESIGN THAT DRIVES RESULTS

4.1 Email Design Mockup — Layout Description

Since we can't embed a live design here, below is a detailed written mockup that mirrors what the email would look like in a tool like Canva or Mailchimp's drag-and-drop editor:

Section	Design Details
Header / Banner	Full-width image of a misty mountain trail or remote landscape. Overlay text: 'Off the Beaten Path' in bold white font. DreamVacations logo top-left in white.
Story / Body Text	Clean white background. Single-column layout. 16pt font, 1.6 line height. Teal accent color for key phrases.
Highlight Box	Light teal background box with a pull quote or key message e.g. 'Real travel. Real stories. Real adventure.'
CTA Button	Full-width orange button: 'Explore the Concept →' Rounded corners, white bold text, 20pt font. Centered below body text.
Footer	Gray background. Unsubscribe link, social media icons, company address. Small 12pt font.

4.2 Visual Hierarchy Principles Used

- F-pattern layout — most important content in top-left, CTA bottom-center
- High-contrast colors — teal on white, orange CTA button for click visibility
- One column only — works on both desktop and mobile screens
- Single CTA — avoids decision fatigue by having one action per email
- Whitespace — generous padding between sections for easy scanning

4.3 Pop-Up Form Design for the Website

The pop-up appears 8 seconds after a visitor arrives on the website, or when they move their mouse toward the browser's exit button (exit-intent trigger).

POP-UP DESIGN CONCEPT

Headline: Want to go somewhere no one has been?

Sub-headline: Join 12,000+ adventure lovers. Get our FREE Adventure Starter Guide + early access to our Off the Beaten Path package.

Form Fields: First Name | Email Address | [Claim My Free Guide →] button

Dismiss Option: Small 'No thanks, I prefer boring vacations' link below the button (playful tone reduces friction)

Design Element	Reasoning
Background image	Blurred adventure landscape (mountains/ocean) to set mood without distraction
Incentive	Free 10-page Adventure Starter Guide — tangible value drives signups
Social proof	'Join 12,000+ adventure lovers' — builds trust instantly
Minimal fields	First Name + Email only — reduces friction, increases conversions
Playful dismiss text	Keeps brand tone consistent even when declining — memorable
Mobile-friendly	Full-width on mobile, centered modal on desktop (max-width 480px)

PART BONUS: A/B TESTING + BEST PRACTICES

A/B Testing Ideas

A/B testing means sending two versions of the same email to two groups and seeing which one performs better. Here are ideas for this campaign:

What to Test	Version A vs Version B
Subject Line (Email 1)	Version A: 'What if your next trip didn't exist on Google Maps?  ' vs Version B: 'The trip you haven't taken yet is waiting...'
CTA Button Text	Version A: 'Explore the Concept →' vs Version B: 'Show Me the Adventure'
Email Length	Version A: Short storytelling email (as written above) vs Version B: Longer version with destination thumbnails

Send Time	Version A: Tuesday 10am vs Version B: Thursday 7pm (test which day gets more opens)
Pop-Up Timing	Version A: Appears after 8 seconds vs Version B: Exit-intent only

Additional Email Marketing Best Practices Applied

- Every email uses [First Name] in the greeting for a personal feelPersonalization:
- Each email includes a preheader (the text that shows after the subject in the inbox preview) to give extra context and boost open ratesPreheader Text:
- Single-column layout, minimum 16pt font, and large CTA buttons (min 44px height) ensure emails look great on phonesMobile Optimization:
- Always included in the footer — builds trust and keeps the list cleanUnsubscribe Link:
- A text-only version of each email should be created alongside the HTML version for better deliverabilityPlain Text Version:
- Remove inactive subscribers every 90 days to maintain a healthy open rate and avoid spam foldersList Hygiene:
- All emails include the company address, an easy unsubscribe option, and an honest subject lineGDPR / CAN-SPAM Compliance:
- 3 emails in 3 weeks avoids overwhelming subscribers while maintaining consistent touchpointsSend Frequency:

Campaign Summary

This campaign covers all five pillars of a successful email marketing launch: a clear strategy, smart automation, compelling copy, strong design, and measurable testing. Every element has been designed to feel authentic, engaging, and true to the DreamVacations brand voice — adventurous, honest, and human.
